Something went wrong. Wait a moment and try again. To sign up for Gmail, create a Google Account. You can use the username and password to sign in to Gmail and other Google products like YouTube, Google Play, and Google Drive. Go to the Google Account creation page. Follow the steps on the screen to set up your account. Use the account you created to sign in to Gmail. Create an account The username I want is taken You won't be able to get a certain Gmail address if the username you requested is: Already being used. Very similar to an existing username (for example, if example@gmail.com already exists, you can't use example@gmail.com). The same as a username that someone used in the past and then deleted. Reserved by Google to prevent spam or abuse. Someone is impersonating me If you believe someone has created a Gmail address to try to impersonate your identity, you can: Unfortunately, Gmail is unable to participate in mediations involving third parties regarding impersonation. Learn more about Gmail Terms of Use. Use Gmail for your business If you want to use Gmail for your business, a Google Workspace account might be better for you than a personal Google Account. Ownership of employee accounts so you are always in control of your company's accounts, emails, and files. 24/7 phone, email, and chat support from a real person. Increased Gmail and Google Drive storage. Mobile device management to keep your data secure, such as the ability to remotely wipe lost devices. Advanced security and administrative controls. For customers using LCN Web hosting, WordPress hosting, Email hosting or LiteMail with an Authenticated SMTP. Please Note: The setup of your email may vary slightly depending on the make and model of your android device. The guide below was created using Android version 8.0.0 on a Samsung Galaxy A5. Before you get started, you'll need to have your email address and password handy. If you can't remember these details, you can check and reset them from your LCN account. You will also need to ensure you have Authenticated SMTP enabled. You can find out how to do this here. Let's get started... Tap the Apps button and locate your built-in email application for your Android phone. (Most likely an icon with an @ symbol or envelope called Email.) Open the apps settings and select Add Account. (If this is your first time using your email app you may already be on the Set up account page when you opened the app.) Enter your Email Address and Password in the fields and then tap MANUAL SETUP. Please Note: It might be helpful to choose Show password to ensure the password is correct if you have this as an option. The device will now ask you to Select account type you want to use. Tap IMAP ACCOUNT, alternatively, if you want to use POP3 you can find all the settings you'll need in our guide. Your device will then ask you for your account settings. The following details need to be entered on this screen: ACCOUNT In the Email address field enter your full email address if not populated already. Next in the Username field enter your full email address in the Password field enter your email password if not populated already. INCOMING SERVER In the IMAP server field enter mail.lcn.com The Security type needs to be set to none The Port should be set to 143 The IMAP path prefix needs to be left blank OUTGOING SERVER In the SMTP server field enter mail.lcn.com The Security type needs to be set to none The Port should be set to 25, 26 or 587 Ensure that Authentication required before sending emails is ticked In the Username field enter your full email address In the Password field enter your SMTP password Once completed click SIGN IN The device will attempt to connect to the servers. If you receive any errors, simply choose Cancel and double check your details are correct. Once successful, you will be taken back to the Accounts screen. Please Note: Depending on your internet service provider, the default port of 25 should allow you to send email. If you find that you are having problems sending email, the first step would be to change the port to 26 or 587. To do this: Open your Email application and head back to the Settings. Choose your account name and then scroll down to Server Settings. Scroll down to the Outgoing Server and change the port to 26 or 587. That's it! You'll now be able to send and receive email using your Android device. A Google Account gives you access to many Google products. You can use the same username and password you created to sign in to any other Google products. If you can't remember that you signed in and would like to check if you have an account, enter your email address. You'll find a message if there isn't a Google Account associated with your email address. You can sign in to an existing Google Account. Check where email notifications are sent By default, account related notifications are sent to your new Gmail address, or to your non-Google email if you signed up with a different email address. To change where you get notifications, edit your contact email. Tip: You can also create a Google Account with a non-Google email you already own. If the email is already used Get answers from community experts With mail.com, you can have up to 10 email addresses in a single account. This allows you to have separate email addresses for different types of correspondence. As you know, you register a new email address when you set up an email account. But you can also create up to nine additional email addresses linked to your mail.com account, called "alias addresses." Simply log in to your account and go to E-mail Settings > Alias Addresses, where you can register any available combination of name and domain name. Emails sent to your alias addresses will automatically arrive in your account inbox, and you can set any of them as your sender address.
